

Interior Monuments

Airworthy Aerospace offers full refurbishment, laminate replacement and repair services for aircraft interior monuments, such as sidewall panels, bin doors, ceiling panels, class dividers and galleys.

As the airline interior solutions leader, we know that repairing and recovering a shipset of panels is the most economical way to restore aircraft interiors to a "like-new" condition, without the high cost of OEM replacements. And we also know that both your airline's down time and your personal time are limited and valuable, so we don't require you to ship your damaged items to us – instead, our team of experts comes to you. And with multiple, full-service facilities, we can quickly fly a team of experts to your location to resolve your issue right away.

As an ethical, financially sound company, we maintain strong relationships with quality suppliers, enabling us to directly buy the quality parts we need to repair your aircraft quickly and economically – and then pass those savings to you. All of our repair stations are D100 certified and or experienced repair professionals service virtually all manufacturers' products and aircraft types, such as Boeing, B/E Aerospace, Airbus, Triumph, McDonnell Douglas and more. As a result, we can provide you with high quality, quick turnaround and fair pricing – and guarantee your satisfaction.

Timeliness you Require,
